

COLOUR MY WORLD

THE MULTI-COLOUR MOVEMENT IS ALL THE RAGE, AND NO STONE OR COLOUR IS LEFT UNTURNED. BY ELIARNE IEZZI.

“ A great variety of colours allow enjoying multiplicity with ease, whether it’s a singular hue or, more daringly, a combination of colours, the trend is sure to brighten any ensemble. ”

This season calls for a colourful point of view, a model of non-conventional, unique and exclusive jewellery. Boasting a dynamic attitude, strong and expressive colours and shades enlighten winter gloom and enhance pieces with a combination of vibrant shades, translucent or matte, and pastel hued stones and gems. A great variety of colours allow enjoying multiplicity with ease, whether it’s a singular hue or, more daringly, a combination of colours, the trend is sure to brighten any ensemble. The idea is perfectly in line with fashion, which is marked by constant changes.

Kennedy Jewellers, the creators of our beautiful cover pieces, are embracing this colourful mood full throttle. “Coloured gemstones being on trend at the moment is music to our ears, as we have a passion for designing and working with unique and bold gemstones. Our latest collection ‘Noir by Kennedy Jewellers’ features bright cabochon cut stones with onyx and black diamonds,” says Vanessa Kennedy. Whether it’s an ode to the 80s with loud and electric colour combinations and designs, or a lady like twist on decorative style, coloured jewels and gems will don and dazzle this season.

Images
1 & 5 // Mark Evans Fine Jewellery
2 // Trewarne Fine Jewellery
3 & 4 // Kennedy Jewellers
6 // Keshett Jewellers